Some years ago, Michael had read in an otherwise forgotten novel that no story existed without its own past, and the past of a story was what enabled us to understand it. That was true of more than stories in books.
Peter Straub, Koko

... They were more than pictures of another time. They were parts of a life, a life that could not go forward without knowing and understanding what was behind.
Michael Connelly, The Black Ice

How odd it is, thought March afterward, to live your life in ignorance of the past, of your world, yourself. Yet how easy to do it! You go along from day to day, down other paths people prepare for you, never raising your head-enfolded in their logic, from swaddling clothes to shroud. It’s a kind of fear.
Well, goodbye to that. And good to leave it behind-whatever happens now.
Robert Harris, Fatherland

History has a nasty sense of humor.
Walter Russell Mead, God and Gold

... History is the only laboratory we have in which to test the effect of ideas. ... political knowledge advances only while we recall the political arrangements of the past and what came of them. In the old adage of Dr. Johnson, humankind is far more often in need of being reminded than of being instructed.
Joseph Bottum

The first step in liquidating a people is to erase its memory. Destroy its books, its culture, its history. Then have someone write new books, manufacture a new culture, invent a new history. Before long that nation will begin to forget what it is and what it was. The world around it will forget even faster.
Milan Kundera

American History To 1877
Becoming Americans
Email: madoc4@innercite.com; MaddocR@flic.losrios.edu
Website: madoc4.homestead.com/History.html
I have designed this class to be a comprehensive, introductory "look" at understanding the basic themes, concerns, and problems of American history. We will be discussing the arrangements, institutional and emotional, which Americans have erected and lived-through from the colonial era to the Civil War and Reconstruction.

The class is intended to serve the student who desires only a brief yet intensive look into a field of study, which he/she does not intend to pursue, and also the student who requires a comprehensive and thorough introduction to his/her major field of study.

I would like to stress that success in this class is entirely dependent upon the degree to which you choose to take an active interest in the material we will be studying. This is your class, and I hope you will make the most of it.

The general class format of lecture and discussion is designed to encourage you to participate in class. I welcome, at all times, your comments on the conduct and content of the class. You may find it to your advantage to tape record the lectures.

Prerequisite:
This course has a prerequisite of ENGWR 101 with a grade of "C" or better, or placement into ENGWR 300 (only). On the first day of class be prepared to show documentation that you have met this requirement. Documentation can include copy of unofficial transcripts or Los Rios Assessment/Placement test results. If you have met the prerequisites outside the Los Rios Community College District, you can submit a Prerequisite Challenge Form, located at http://www.flc.losrios.edu/student-services/admissions-and-records/admissions-and-records-forms. If you have not met this requirement by the end of the second week of classes, you will be dropped from the course.

Website: www.madoc4.homestead.com/History.html
You will find all of the lecture outlines (pdf format) to print out and use as you take notes.

Required Reading:
Alan Brinkley, The Unfinished Nation, Volume One (any edition)
Tony Hillerman, The Thief of Time
Michael Shaara, The Killer Angels

Reading For exams:
First Exam: Brinkley, chapters 1-3; Hillerman
Second Exam: Brinkley, chapters 4-15; Shaara
History 310 Folsom Lake College                 Mr. Maddock
Summer Semester 2020

Video Materials:
The video material shown during the class constitutes a valuable resource and represents one fourth of the materials you will have (the others are lecture, text and additional readings) to gain a comprehensive knowledge of American History.

Examinations:
There will be two written examinations. These exams will be essay in format, and are vehicles for you to test your understanding of the core concepts of the course. The questions are not designed as a method of inquisition or as a way of "tricking" you with ambiguous questions. In the case of absence from the examinations, it is YOUR responsibility to supply a reasonable excuse, and set-up an alternative date. I am very flexible about this, but the responsibility for taking examinations at the times indicated is yours. If you do not complete all of the assigned work for the class the default grade is a D. Exams should be typed (single spaced in a 10 or 12pt easily readable type face) and be at least 5-6 pages in length. Please consult the student handbook on the subject of plagiarism.

Term Paper:
Write a 5-6 page paper on an American person, event or idea you find interesting in the course materials. The only exceptions are Luther and Elizabeth I. It should be typed (single spaced with 10 or 12pt easily readable typeface) and provide a bibliography of source material(s). Please use both the Library and the Internet as research tools. The paper can be submitted at any time during the class. Please consult the student handbook on the subject of plagiarism.

Important Dates:
Holiday(s): none
Spring Break: none
Writing Day(s): July 06-08; July 24-27
Exam Questions: July 02 and July 23
First Exam Due: July 09
First exam grades: TBD
Second Exam Due: July 27-30
Term Paper Due: Any time during class; or no later than July 30

Final Class Grade:
The final class grade is not the result of a point system or a curve. It results from your work taken as a whole and judged cumulatively and as a progression. Key indicators of performance are consistency and/or improvement in your work. Each assignment represents a percentage of the final grade. Roughly: First exam 25%; Final exam 40%; Term paper 30%; and extra credit 5%.

Computers and/or Tablets in the Classroom:
Computers and/or Tablets are allowed only to take notes. Any other use will result in your being unable to use the computer or tablet in the class.

Sending Work in an email:
Emailed work will only be accepted with prior approval and must be formatted in Microsoft Word.

Attendance, Dropping the class and Incompletes:
While I realize that it is not always possible for you to attend every class, there must still be a minimum attendance requirement. If you were to miss more than three of the class lectures you would lose sight of the narrative themes of the class and would not perform well on the examinations. Therefore, anyone with more than three absences should consider dropping the class unless there are compelling reasons to do otherwise. The first three weeks of the class: if you miss three consecutive classes meeting twice a week without contacting me, you will be dropped from the class. If you miss two consecutive classes meeting once a week, you will be dropped from the class. If you should decide the class is not for you, be sure you fill out and submit the necessary drop form. If you don't, you will end up with an F grade in the class.

Students must initiate all requests for an Incomplete. It is your responsibility to fill out and submit the necessary forms for my signature after conferring with me about being given an incomplete for the class.

Safety and Civility:
Your courtesy toward your fellow students during the conduct of the class is something I assume as a basic qualification to remain in the class. Please turn off any pagers or cell phones unless you are part of an emergency response team.

Tutorial and Learning Skills Assistance:
At one time or another, all of us have experienced the need to seek outside help with some aspect of our educational skills, or our work generally. FLC and EDC provide a broad range of support services through trained counselors and tutors. Please do not hesitate to seek them out if you feel you might need to improve your verbal, written, or comprehension skills.
Extra Credit:
Take a tour of the Library or complete a class at the Reading and Writing Center (FLC) or English Center (EDC). Submit written documentation of completion.

Learning Outcomes and Objectives:
Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:
- Develop and acquire information literacy skills necessary to conduct basic research of historical documents, publications, and references.
- Compose historical writing assignments reflecting written expression competency at the college composition level.
- Critically analyze the chronology of events that make up our country’s past to understand change and/or continuity and cause and/or effect in history.
- Embody historical empathy by judging the past on its own terms and use that knowledge to understand contemporary issues.
- Demonstrate an understanding of U.S. history through multiple analytical categories such as race, class, gender, and ethnicity.
- Demonstrate an understanding of the philosophical reasoning, the federal concept, and the democratic ideology in the development of the Constitution.

Course Outline

_We live around a sea, like frogs around a pond_
Plato

“What Am I Doing Here Anyway?” An Introduction to the Course and Basic Themes
The basis for modern American history: religious, geographical and political transformation; "the decisive fact in the modern world."

_But this is how history is done now. People wait until they have a need for some history and then they customize it to suit their purposes._
Neal Stephenson

History “thinking,” (“The Past Never Goes Away.”)

_Part One: Frogs Around A Pond_ (Weeks 2-8)
The End of the World
“Coram Deo”: The “invention” of the modern world
Dire Wolves: George McJunkin and Dead Horse Arroyo
The Christmas Party: I will not be a toy of the fates
Hiving Out

Part Two: Becoming Americans (Weeks 9-12)
The Western Design
“You Cannot Conquer A Map”

Part Three: The "Second" American Revolution (Weeks 13-16)
A General, Happy Mediocrity: Don’t Forget The Ladies
“Tonight We Water the Horses in the Tennessee”

Suggested Reading: General and Context
Robin Fox, The Tribal Imagination
Nicholas Wade, Before The Dawn
Ernest Gellner, Plough, Sword and Book
Keith Thomas, In Pursuit of Civility
David Landes, The Wealth and Poverty of Nations
Deirdre N. McCloskey, The Bourgeois Virtues; Bourgeois Dignity; Bourgeois Equality: How Ideas, Not Capital or Institutions Enriched the World
Marcia Colish, Medieval Foundations of the Western Intellectual Tradition, 400-1400
Jacques Le Goff, Medieval Civilization 400-1500
Peter Spufford, Power and Profit
Bernard Lewis, Cultures in Conflict, Christians, Muslims, and Jews in the Age of Discovery; The Middle East, A Brief History of the Last 2,000 Years; The Arabs In History

Part One: Frogs Around A Pond
Jake Page, In The Hands of the Great Spirit
Charles Mann, 1491; 1493
Brian Fagan, The Great Journey
Coe, Snow, and Benson, Atlas of Ancient America
Carl Waldman, ed., Atlas of the North American Indian
Carlos M.N. Eire, Reformations: The Early Modern World 1450-1650
Alec Ryrie, Protestants: The Faith that Made the Modern World
Diarmuid MacCulloch, All Things Made New: Reformation and It’s Legacy
J.H. Elliott, Imperial Spain; Empires of the Atlantic World
Henry Kamen, Empire, How Spain Became A World Power 1492-1763
Peter Padfield, Maritime Supremacy and the Opening of the Western Mind
Wallace Maccaffrey, Elizabeth I
John Guy, Elizabeth, The Forgotten Years

Part Two: Becoming Americans
Gertrude Himmelfarb, The Roads to Modernity
Michael Barone, Our First Revolution
Daniel Boorstin, The Americans, The National Experience
Robert Weibe, The Opening of American Society
Perry Miller, Nature’s Nation; Errand Into The Wilderness
Michael Warner, American Sermons
Bernard Bailyn, The Peopling of British North America; The Ideological Origins of the American Revolution; The Origins of American Politics; The Debate on the Constitution (two vols); The Essential Debate on the Constitution; Voyagers to the West; Faces of Revolution; The Federalist Papers; To Begin The World Anew; The Barbarous Years
C. Bradley Thompson, America’s Revolutionary Mind
Edmund Morgan, The Puritan Dilemma; American Slavery, American Freedom: The ordeal of Colonial Virginia; Visible Saints; The Puritan Family
Gordon Wood, The Radicalism of the American Revolution; The American Revolution; Revolutionary Characters; Empire of Liberty; The American Revolution: Writings from the Pamphlet Debate 1764-1776.
Forrest McDonald, We, The People; Novus Ordo Seclorum, The Intellectual Origins of the Constitution; E Pluribus Unam; The American Presidency
Jack Rakove, James Madison, Writings
Lance Banning, The Sacred Fire of Liberty: James Madison and the Founding of the Federal Republic
Thomas West, Vindicating the Founders: Race, Sex, Class and Justice in the Origins of America
Joseph Ellis, Founding Brothers; American Sphinx; American Creation
Walter McDougall, Freedom Just Around the Corner; Throes of Democracy
Walter Russell Mead, God and Gold; Special Providence
Henry Nash Smith, Virgin Land
David McCullough, The Pioneers
Howard Lamar, ed., The American West, The Reader’s Encyclopedia
Philip Anschutz, Out Where The West Begins, two volumes

Part Three: The “Second American Revolution”
Alexis De Tocqueville, Democracy in America (2 vols)
Robert Remini, The Life of Andrew Jackson; The Battle of New Orleans
History 310 Folsom Lake College                 Mr. Maddock
Summer Semester 2020

Marvin Meyers, The Jacksonian Persuasion
Daniel Walker Howe, The Ages of Jackson, Claremont Review of Books
(Spring 2009)

Michael Knox Beran, Forge of Empires

Harry Jaffa, A New Birth of Freedom; Crisis of the House Divided
George Fredrickson, The Inner Civil War
James McPherson, The Battle Cry of Freedom: The Civil War Era; Drawn With The Sword

Allen Guelzo, Abraham Lincoln; Fateful Lightning
Ron Chernow, Grant

John Diggins, On Hallowed Ground

Alice Rossi, ed., The Feminist Papers
Peter Kolchin, American Slavery 1619-1877

Eugene Genovese, Roll Jordon Roll
Ira Berlin, Many Thousands Gone, The First Two Centuries of Slavery In North America
Robert Hughes, American Visions, The Epic History of Art in America

Reference:
Frederick Crews, The Random House Handbook
Kate Turabian, A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses and Dissertations (Current Edition)
The Chicago Manual of Style (Current Edition)

The Practice of History:
Bernard Bailyn, On The Teaching and Writing of History; Sometimes An Art
John Lukacs, Remembered Past; Historical Consciousness; “The Consciousness of the Past”, The Passing of the Modern Age
Mary Lefkowitz, History Lesson; Not Out of Africa
Gordon Wood, The Purpose of the Past
David Greenberg, “Agit-Prof Howard Zinn’s Influential Mutilations of American History”, New Republic (March 19, 2013)
Ron Radosh, “The Zinning of America …”, PJ Media (December 12, 2009)
Stanley Kurtz, AP History, National Review (May 1, 2019)

Victor Davis Hanson, A War Like No Other
Robert Strassler, ed., The Landmark Thucydides
Donald Kagan, The Peloponnesian War; On The Origins of War

Revised: 5/31/20 10:48 AM
American historians in recent decades have attempted to achieve new insights by widening their boundaries. That is, they have tried to gain a better understanding of their own country’s past by noting and interpreting the pasts of other countries and regions. The purpose of this week’s assignment is to acquaint you with the comparative method.