The Society of Bookbinders is open to all who have an interest in books and related matters. Membership of the Society is no guarantee of expertise or standard of workmanship and the Society cannot endorse the work of binders. This list is compiled from those members who have expressed a willingness to take on work or make wider contacts. However, the Society would be pleased to hear of unsatisfactory transactions.

We suggest that you visit a binder if possible and ask to see some of his/her work in progress. The first work for an untried binder should not be a very valuable item. Discuss the work to be done and agree the project. If you are visiting, you may be able to choose materials. It is a good idea to write down what you decide, for both your sakes, noting any defects and missing pages/plates of the volume. It is very difficult to advise on the cost of bookbinding and repairs – each book presents its own problems – the binder should be able to give a good guide to cost and the time involved; if any major problems transpire, the binder should be expected to contact you.

The UK members of Society meet locally within Regions (East Anglia, East Midlands, London & South, North East, North Wales and North West, Scotland, Western, and West Midlands) so this list is sorted regionally. The list also includes some overseas members, and some collectors, conservators and suppliers of materials. Please choose a region from the map below.

Linguistic East Anglia is a lot smaller than it was two hundred years ago, as the English of London and the Home Counties has encroached on the region; but East Anglian English is still spoken today in northeastern Essex, Norfolk, and Suffolk, except for the Fens of western Norfolk and northwestern Suffolk.

Grammar. The English of the region is characterized by some distinctive grammatical features. The traditional East Anglian dialect had an interesting use of the word do as a conjunction meaning ‘or’ or ‘otherwise’.
